

Delivering water treatment systems for offshore aquaculture and land-based facilities.

Overview

For over 20 years we have been supplying water treatment for aquaculture. Let us support you in this critical food source industry, from project concept to implementation and aftersales support.

Benefits we can offer to the aquaculture industry include reduced water consumption, better fish conditions, improved control over biological performance and reduced environmental impact, to name just a few.